

ACICA PANEL DISCUSSION: Australia's Investment Position in the Indo-Pacific

“Australia’s future is tied to the Indo-Pacific. This is the region where our interests are most directly affected and where we can have the greatest impact”

– Australian Government
Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Annual Report 2019-2020

ACICA warmly invites you to attend an important symposium focused on Australia's Indo-Pacific engagement.

Offering a welcome Keynote from Senator Amanda Stoker, the Assistant Minister to the Attorney-General and a line-up of experienced speakers, this symposium will explore the key trading, strategic and development relationship between Australia and its closest neighbours with a focus on the types of commercial disputes that may arise in that context, how best to manage them and the role that Australia and Australian practitioners play in the provision of an efficient international dispute resolution framework.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

A crucial symposium for those involved with cross border transactions and investment including:

- Practising lawyers and barristers
